Mrs. Cowman Will Address Student Nurses

Mrs. Marjorie Cowman, supervisor of the pediatric ward at Wadley Hospital, will be the key speaker at the District Workshop of the Texas Student Nurses Association meeting tomorrow here.

"Making the Transition from Student Nurse to Professional Nurse," is the topic for the 1:30 address scheduled for the Blue Room in the William Buchanan Nursing Building.

According to TC's district president and local president, Suzanne Bohleke, the state chairman of the TSNA nominating committee, Miss Joyce Meyer of Houston, will also be present.

About 75 student nurses from Dallas, Tyler and Texarkana are expected for the day long workshop. A luncheon at Howard Johnson's is scheduled.

TC Artists To Display Paintings at Coffee House

An art happening.

That's what's taking place at the Sign of Jonah Coffee House, 901 Main, today, this weekend and two days next week.

Texarkana College art students' work will be on display there and for sale. The free showing starts at 2 today and lasts until 5 p.m. Tonight, Saturday and Sunday nights the public may see these paintings from 7:30-12.

On Monday and Tuesday the public hours are 2-5 in the afternoon.

In T.C. Players' Our Town

Emily Seeks Answer On Meaning of Life

"Do people realize life while they live every, every minute of it?"

Emily Webb's searching question is posed to the Stage Manager and the cast of "Our Town" and may well stir the audience to thinking about life's meaning as the T.C. Players present Thornton Wilder's play for Texarkana viewers.

Curtain time for the first night performance is 7:30 p.m., Nov. 30 in the Texarkana College auditorium.

The show will be presented again on Friday night, Dec. 1.

Tickets are 50 cents for TC students with ID cards; $1.00 for others.

Leroy Ruth, Texarkana, will play the part of the Stage Manager.

Tables turn as reporter John Sangalli "grills" three of TC's Police Technology class members. The girls, along with 13 males, constitute the college's first course in this area.

Three Girls Are Members Of Police Tech Classes

By John Sangalli

"We're treated like one of the boys!" So says Mary Jo Camponovo, of Texas High, Willie Mae Russey, of Macedonia High and Forest Smith of Dunbar, the three female members of Mr. James Pynes's new course, are interested and excited about police work.

"As a youngster I always wanted to be an F.B.I. agent, but women are not permitted to participate in federal investigation," Miss Russey explained. "So I decided to try police technology since women are permitted and desperately needed in this area."

Director of the course, Mr. Pynes says there is a definite need for trained women in Law Enforcement in administrative and office duties so that more men officers can be on field duty.

"The law demands the presence of a woman in some police investigations, especially in cases involving a female," Mr. Pynes pointed out.

Miss Smith, the third member of the trio, is interested in criminal investigation. She believes a woman involved in a crime, either as a victim or defendant, will talk more freely to a woman investigator.

"This course has been great," she added. "The classes would be overcrowded if more students had really known about it."

"We get along very well in the classroom," Miss Russey added. "The experiences Mr. Pynes relates in his lectures are more meaningful for they are real life illustrations of what we are hearing about."

"One of the advantages of being a female police officer," Miss Russey believes, is "that we can get information from a man that some male officer can not get." (Feminine intuition?)

Library Gets Xerox Copier

... Eight copies per minute ... 20 seconds to warm up ... 9,999 copies without a reset ... Sound unbelievable? Perhaps, but the facts are true.

The library's newly acquired $25,000 Xerox 914 is available to students for ten cents per use. The College rents the machine from Xerox Corporation.

Copies of pages from books and magazines can be made by putting the material on a glass plate, placing a cover, turning the knob to the number of copies desired, pressing the "on" button and—of course—putting in the dime.

Miss Bulldog

Beauty Pageant On Stage Tuesday

"A pretty girl is like a melody . . ."

Nineteen pretty girls will grace the stage next Tuesday morning as the annual Miss Bulldog Beauty Pageant gets underway at 9:30 in the auditorium.

This year's presentation of the contestants will be in the form of a style show sponsored by Youngland Fashions. After the pretty misses model one daytime ensemble, they will appear on stage in an evening formal.

Students will vote on the top five beauties at the close of the presentation.

Mrs. Mildred Parsons, drama coach, is in charge of the program and Mr. James Parsons, biology and TC Television director, will be the master of ceremonies.

Nominees and their sponsoring clubs are Susan Arnold, Phi Theta Kappa; Glenda Boggs, B.S.U.; Maria Elena Bowles, Spanish Club; Sandra Copeland, Young Democrats; Shirley De Loach, Tee Cees; and Susan Donaldson, Bulldog.

Julie Goff, Blue Jackets; Sherill Hays, Texas Student Nurses Association; Margie Hutton, Le Cercle Francais; Janet Lynch, TSEA; Patti Moore, Circle K; and Connie Owens, choir; are also candidates for the title.

Other nominees include Pamela Reid, Science Club; Diane Shackelford, Wesley Foundation; Brenda Sorsby, T.C. Players; Carol Trigg, English Club; Sharon Walker, Student Senate; Donna Timmons, Girls' Dorm; and Kathie Yocom, Samothrace.

Honor Society Initiates Ten

Ten students were initiated into the Phi Theta Kappa scholastic honor society at a banquet Tuesday night in the Student Center.

New members include Diana L. Burt, Helen Jane Cook, Kathy Davis, Barbara A. Deselium, Lindolyn Edwards, Emily L. Frantz, Julia A. Goff, Patricia A. Messimer, Linda P. Moffatt and John W. Soatkamp.

A picnic, weather permitting, in Mena, Ark., is in store tomorrow for all members and sponsors Mr. James Bennett and Mrs. Betty Carter.

Paul Nourse, sophomore from Texarkana, the organization's treasurer, attended the October state convention held in Odessa. Member colleges made plans for the national Phi Theta Convention to be held in April at San Jacinto College in Pasadena.

The pictures of the five finalists will be sent to a leading stage or screen star for final judging. Mr. Andy Williams, the staff's first choice, sent his best regards to all the contestants but declined to be a judge.

"I am honored to have been chosen as judge," Mr. Williams wrote Editor Goff, "but this would mean eliminating the other hopeful contestants and I just cannot bring myself to be responsible for any young person's disappointment."

Students and faculty members are invited to the Tuesday assembly to view the Texarkana College beauties and then select the top five.

Enrollment Shows 1,865

Texarkana College has 1,865 students enrolled this semester, according to Mr. K. B. Davis, registrar.

Of that figure 1,336 are freshmen, 702 of whom are first-time enrollees. Men students with less than 30 semester hours number 813; women, 524.

In the Sophomore Class are 432 students. Of those with 30-59 semester hours, 238 are male and 194 are female.

Included in the total enrollment figure are 39 vocational nursing students.

T.C.'s Vocational - Technical program, directed by Mr. B. J. Murdock, has 367 academic students. Professional nursing has 79 women and two men; data processing has 246 registered (154 men, 92 women).

Two new courses, pilot and police technology, have 40 students. Twenty-five are signed with Mr. Aldridge Pease in the air tech class; 15, three of whom are girls, are taking the police course under Mr. James Pynes.

Three more technology courses account for 98 students. Twenty students each in three classes of welding, 13 in carpentry and 25 in auto body repair constitute the on-the-job trainees.

Mr. Davis reported that the day enrollment number 1,388 students.

Thanksgiving Brings Two-Day Vacation

Texarkana College students get a few days off for the Thanksgiving holidays beginning after the last class Wednesday, Nov. 22.

Getting Educated . . .

Dishonestly

Some students come to college to get educated—some get educated by devious means.

Just recently an assignment for English 131 which required reading in the library resulted in torn pages and pilfered articles from Saturday Review, School and Society, Scientific American and other periodicals containing articles on the assigned topic.

A thief by any other name is still a thief. Those who are guilty of taking library materials and rationalize their behavior as "being pressured for time" are, in reality, inconsiderate, selfish and dishonest.

That Texarkana College has a few who would use these invidious tactics is a blemish to the reputation of the entire student body.

Speaking Out

For the Majority

Twelve persons from the Texarkana area.

That's the number a town this size would have had present among the 50,000 war dissenters gathered recently in the nation's capitol at the Lincoln Memorial and Washington Monument.

In a country based on majority rule, minorities (.02½ percent of the population) make a loud noise. And these loud noises are reverberating around the world as spokesmen for the majority of the population.

Dissent within the law is a privilege in a democratic country. But the recent protest, which involved carrying Viet Cong flags, unprintable slogans and disorderly behavior towards those appointed to enforce the law, does not fulfill the interpretation of lawful dissent.

Moreover, the minority's violence and lawlessness are drowning out the voices of a majority of their countrymen. National respect for law and order has nosedived to an all-time low.

Whatever happened to the tenet that in a democracy the majority rule is the basis for operating the country. No American is happy about the war in Vietnam, but the vast majority support their government's commitment there, and its struggle to bring it to a satisfactory end.

If a dozen persons become the spokesman for a town this size, who is speaking for 49,988?

Demonstrating and Draft Cards

Students Offer Candid Views

Speaking out is one privilege of living in a free country. To feel the pulse of current opinion, The Kennel polled 20 students, selected at random, on two questions: "What is your opinion on anti-war demonstrations?" and "What do you think about draft card burners?"

"They hurt our image abroad," says freshman David Basye, a Texarkana native.

A Mobile, Ala. freshman Jack Weaver believes "demonstrating is a poor way to get a point across. That's why we elect representatives to Congress."

Jack added, "Although we might not believe the war in Vietnam is morally right, we have an obligation to our country and must protect her."

"It is an act of treason to advocate violent opposition to our government," pointed out Johnny Lawson, Atlanta. "Maybe we shouldn't be in Vietnam, but we are there, and we need to be behind our men fighting there."

Jack Martindale of New Boston wishes Vietnams would spend their time looking for a reasonable solution to finish the war. "Send the card burners to Saigon and let them see how quickly card-burning is permitted there."

Jack speculated that, "If those 50,000 demonstrators in Washington each contributed a pint of blood for our wounded men in Vietnam, think how many lives might be spared."

Texarkana freshman Marcus Mullenax doesn't believe in draft card burning. "If someone is going to burn his, he should pay the consequences."

"They have a right to disagree," says Harold Landsdell, a transfer from Southern State, "but their protest should take a legal form."

Sue Cryer, a Texarkana freshman, feels "Everyone should be willing to serve."

"They can find some other way to protest, but not by burning the American flag. That's unpatriotic." So says Phillip Shelton, another local freshman.

Recently separated from the Air Force after service in North Africa, freshman Edward Ainsworth favors the American effort in Vietnam. "We're fighting the spread of communism. Too many folks don't realize why we're there."

Draft card burners rankle Ainsworth. "They ought to go to the head of the list."

Sophomore George Schelkopf, Master Sgt., Ret. USAF, feels Americanism and patriotism is lacking in this generation. "I think that prosecution or perhaps the loss of exemption might be answers to the draft card burners."

Counseling Dept. Offers Job Placement Service

A job placement service is being offered to students of Texarkana College this year for the first time. The service is being handled by the Counseling Department.

Thus far, a total of 20 students have been placed in various jobs including delivering, stocking groceries, working in hospitals, working for the telephone company, and helping in a chemical laboratory.

Anyone interested in applying for a job somewhere in the Texarkana area should contact either Mr. O. Paul Smith or Mrs. Georgia McFaul, Student Center.

Baptist Students Have Thanksgiving Banquet

"We Thank Thee, Lord" is the theme of tonight's Thanksgiving semi-formal banquet at the B.S.U. Center at 7 o'clock.

Invited speaker is sophomore ministerial student Joe Ford of East Texas Baptist College, Marshall. The Shreveport native is president of the ETB Ministerial Alliance and is well known to Texarkana-area students.

Special music and turkey and trimmings have been planned by the social committee, chairman Judy Whitlow reports.

Political Science Meet Draws Southern Delegates

Five members of the TC Social Studies Department journeyed to New Orleans early in November for the 39th annual meeting of the Southern Political Science Association.

Making the trip were Mr. J. E. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gallien, Mr. Jerry Gilbert and Mr. Lewis Cannon.

Held Nov. 2-4 at the Jung Hotel, the discussions and papers presented ranged from "The Tradition of Constitutionalism" to "Physiological Aspects of Political Behaviors."

At the first meeting, delegates heard papers read by University of Texas and Rice professors on "The Tradition of Constitutionalism."

The "Coalition Theory," "Explanatory Theory and Judicial Behavior," and "Local Political Party Leadership," were among the major topics the TC delegates heard discussed.

Film Scheduled for MBSF

A film has been scheduled for the Nov. 30 meeting of the Missionary Baptist Student Fellowship which meets on Thursday in the Student Senate Room, Student Center, at 7 p.m.

Yesterday members heard Brother Richard Akin of Westlawn Baptist Church.

YR To Help Register

Members of the Young Republicans will assist with voter registration in Bowie County.

At the October meeting the Chairman of the Republican Party of Miller County, Mr. Raymond Anderson, spoke to the YP members.

Officers this year are Ted Bedsole and Larry Perkins, president and vice-president, respectively.

Junior colleges in Texas have some 76,007 on-campus students this fall. This figure, according to a UPI news release, represents an increase of 21.3 percent over last fall's enrollment.

Senior college enrollment is up, too, but just 9.7 percent. Seems like the junior colleges are relieving the over-crowded situation in senior colleges.

Less expensive, too, if a person can get two years close to home.

Importance of Money Is Universal Fact

Through history the French and Germans have perpetuated a series of disagreements and wars. The proverbs of the countries, however, agree about the importance of money.

"The richest man carries nothing away with him but his shroud," according to the French.

The Germans say, "Better (to have) an empty purse than an empty head."

The Hebrews agree, "For riches certainly make themselves wings."

On the subject of "the crowd" a Chinese proverb notes that "You have a desire to do whatever you see others doing."

"Fools go in throngs" according to a French proverb. In a more contemplative attitude an Arabic saying is that "The society of the wise confers honor, that of the ignorant contempt."

Different national viewpoints on these subjects and others including love, marriage and experience make interesting reading in The Book of Proverbs by Paul Rosenzweig.

Dr. Whaley Dedicates New Nursing Building

"This building is dedicated to service and to science," said Dr. Storm Whaley, of the University of Arkansas Health Service, in ceremonies Oct. 25 for the formal dedication of the debt-free William Buchanan Nursing Building.

"It is dedicated to knowing that which is known is not enough," the Arkansas guest speaker stressed as he explained to the platform guests, student nurses, and visitors gathered on the sunny October afternoon that today's knowledge is obsolete tomorrow.

"This building provides Texarkana area students with opportunities to be equipped for science and its future demands."

On hand for the hour long outdoor ceremony were members of the Buchanan Foundation, a representative from the Texas Education Agency, the TC Board of Regents and local guests.

Prior to Dr. Whaley's address, Dr. William R. Patterson presented a building plaque to Mr. William G. Fuller, accepting for the Buchanan Foundation, and expressed the College's appreciation for their gift.

The Buchanan Foundation and Texas Education Agency provided funds to construct the Nursing Building.

Mr. Truman Isabel, representative for the T.E.A., accepted the thanks for the Agency and paid tribute to the nursing profession in his general remarks.

Dr. J. W. Cady, president of the College, presided over the ceremonies held in front of the new building.

Some 200 persons were present.

Professional and vocational nursing students were attired in their uniforms and served as hostesses.

A tour and reception followed the benediction pronounced by Dr. T. H. Wilbanks, of the Board of Regents.

Wesleyans Pick Officers; Plan November Retreat

Others officers elected for the Methodist-sponsored group include Jerry Black, Liberty-Eylau, vice-president; and Carolyn Fielden, Pasadena, secretary-treasurer.

Dianne Shackelford of Texarkana has been named Miss Bulldog representative for the foundation.

The executive officers and a planning committee are organizing a retreat to be held in November. Members of the committee include June Allison, Texarkana (Ark.); Haley Clark, Hooks; Dianne Shackelford, Texarkana; and Susan Zachary, Hooks.

The Wesley Foundation, sponsored by Mr. Lewis Cannon and the Rev. Roger Shumake of Chapelwood Methodist Church, meets at 7:45 a.m. on Tuesdays and Fridays and at 3 p.m. on Wednesday in the chapel.

Any student is welcome.

Mrs. Carter, Mr. Spencer To Vie For Piper Award

Mrs. Betty Carter, professor of English, and Mr. J. E. Spencer, chairman of the Social Science Department, have been nominated for statewide competition among junior and senior college faculty members for the Piper Award.

The two were selected from faculty nominations.

The Piper Award, granted annually to ten outstanding Texas college teachers, is made possible by the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation. Winners receive a certificate and an honorarium of $1,000.

In 1962 Professor Paul McFerran, division chairman of the Natural Science and Engineering Department, was one of the ten recipients of the award.

Mrs. Carter, a member of the TC faculty for the past 14 years, has served as chairman of the Foreign Language Department and taught English.

A graduate of both Lambuth College and L.S.U., Mrs. Carter has taught in several colleges in Tennessee and Mississippi. She is active in Delta Kappa Gamma, P.E.O., AAUW, church work and professional educational organizations. Who's Who of American Women, Who's Who in the South and Southwest, and the Dictionary of International Biography carry her name. In 1963 she was nominated for national Teacher of the Year.

Professor Spencer, who holds a B.A. and M.A. in government and history from Texas Christian University, came to Texarkana in 1959. He became chairman of the Social Science Department in 1964.

The native of Clarksville is a devotee of grand opera and fishing in his free time. During the recent trip to the South Political Science Association in New Orleans, Mr. Spencer took a free evening to view Verdi's Macbeth.

The Piper Foundation, set up in 1950, began the Piper Award for teachers in 1958. From an endowment by Randall Gordon Piper, a successful independent oil operator, the holdings have grown to one million dollars.

One portion is devoted to honoring the outstanding achievement of college teachers for their "presentation of eternal verities and new sciences in such a manner that influences and guides young people in their life patterns."

Winners will be notified of their selection next spring.

Circle K Nabs Championship In Intramural Flag Football

Circle K, displaying a well-organized and disciplined attack, copped its second consecutive championship by downing the Dirty Dozen 14-0 in the title game of the Intramural Flag Football Tournament Oct. 31.

Scoring on a rollout of 15 yards by quarterback Benny Cox in the first half and a fake field goal and a run of 10 yards by Harrell Bivins on the last play of the game, Circle K repulsed a strong challenge from a Dirty Dozen team.

Mike Park, who hooked up with Circle K's Randy Jones in a fine head to head battle, continually harrassed Circle K's ballcarriers, roaming from sideline to sideline in an attempt to stop Circle K's powerful rushing game.

Parks couldn't do it all however as two costly illegal procedure penalties wiped out a touchdown by Jerry Hayes, and 50-yard pass and run play from Dirty Dozen quarterback Jeff Taylor to end Gene Capshaw that ended on the Circle K 10 yard line.

Circle K whipped New Boston 7-0 in their first round game, scoring on a pass from Cox to Bivens, then came back to beat the Wolverines 14-0 in the semi-finals behind the throwing of Cox, the running of Frank Sterle and Pat Craven and defensive work of Jones, David Bayse and Gary Treadway.

The Dirty Dozen reached the finals with a 13-0 victory over the Road Runners in the first round game and a 7-0 decision over the Bulldogs in the semi-finals.

After scoring on a 12-yard pass from Taylor to Capshaw in the first half the Dirty Dozen had to fight off a last ditch rally by the Bulldogs to preserve the victory.

In the two first round games the Road Runners defeated the Cobras 12-0 behind the passing of quarterback Danny Green and the running and catching of Lutian Murphy, while the Chaparrals advanced with a victory on penetrations after fighting to a 0-0 tie with the Bearcats.

In quarterfinal games the Bulldogs edged by the Whiz Kids 7-6, Dirty Dozen shut down Green and Murphy 12-0, the Wolverines and Chapparels fought to 6-6 tie with the Wolverines with the Wolverines advancing to the semi-finals on the basis of more penetrations, and Circle K eliminated New Boston 7-0.

Intramural Roundup

Know which town in the area provided the most players selected to the intramural flag football all-star team? Texarkana, Texas? Texarkana, Arkansas? Atlanta? It may come as a surprise to you to find that DeKalb paced selections to the team with five out of the 19 players selected. James Walker, James Waltmon, Dale Meadows, and Rodney Grigson, of the Chapparel team, and Stanley Easter of the Wolverines all hail from DeKalb.

Two players each from Texarkana, Texas, Texarkana, Ark., Fouke, Ark., and Hooks, Texas were on the team while Mineral Springs, Hope, San Antonio, Little Rock, Atlanta and Houston each had one player on the team.

—Archery—

Lanny Pinkham copped the championship in the men's archery competition Monday, Oct. 30, with 208 points. Wayne Middlebrooks grabbed second place with 195 points and Larry Hall took third place with 180 points.

Christmas Mail Needs Attention

Do you know what a "Nixie" is? Probably not if you haven't worked for the Post Office Department.

"Nixie" is a term that does not make for a Merry Christmas. A "Nixie" is a dead letter or package—it is a piece of mail that for one reason or another can't be delivered. Usually a "Nixie" does not reach its destination because the address can't be read—or the address is completely wrong, or in a package the address label has become separated from the parcel.

Why this information? Because this Christmas, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien predicts a new record of well over nine billion pieces of mail during the holiday season. You can ensure delivery if you:

- (1) Address each piece of clearly,
- (2) Use ZIP Codes,
- (3) Pack all parcels solidly,
- (4) Mail gifts to distant states not later than Dec. 4,
- (5) Mail greeting cards to distant states by Dec. 10.
- (6) Mail gifts and greeting cards to nearby areas not later than Dec. 13.

If you do all these things, your gifts and cards will not be "Nixies."

Chaparrals Lead All-Star Roll

The Chaparrals, a quarterfinalist team in the recent intramural flag football tournament, led selections to the Intramural All-Star team which met the Circle K Thursday, Nov. 9.

Five players headed by pass catching end Mike Lay represented the Chaparrals in the All-Star game. In addition to Lay, who topped all players in the number of votes received, the Chaparrals, a quarterfinalist, Dale Meadows, Rodney Grigson and James Walker.

The Whiz Kids, Roadrunners, and runner-up Dirty Dozen each placed three players on the team, while the Wolverines and Bulldogs each placed two, and the Bearcats one.

The Cobras and New Boston failed to place a man on the all-star team.

Representing the Whiz Kids were Brian Shiffer, Randy Whitmore and giant Dike Dillman. Lutian Murphy, who was second to Lay in the number of votes received, Dale Dugan and Jerry Cook represented the Roadrunners.

Former Texas High star Mike Park, Phil Bocox and Jeff Taylor represented the Dirty Dozen, who were beaten 14-0 by Circle K in the title game.

The Wolverines were represented by Stanley Easter and hard charging lineman Theardis Cooksey, while Ronald Ross and James Wright were chosen from the Bulldogs.

Long throwing quarterback Bobby King was the lone representative from the Bearcats.

Walker, Taylor and Dillman were the only repeaters from last year's team, which defeated champion Circle K 12-0.

TIME

The longest word in the language?

By letter count, the longest word may be pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis, a rare lung disease. You won't find it in Webster's New World Dictionary, College Edition. But you will find more useful information about words than in any other desk dictionary.

Take the word time. In addition to its derivation and an illustration showing U.S. time zones, you'll find 48 clear definitions of the different meanings of time and 27 idiomatic uses, such as time of one's life. In sum, everything you want to know about time.

This dictionary is approved and used by more than 1000 colleges and universities. Isn't it time you owned one? Only $5.95 for 1760 pages; $6.95 thumb-indexed.
