

PLAYBOY PLAYMATE TO WARM UP SNOW BALL TOMORROW NIGHT

MISS NANCY McNEIL

Circle K Sponsors 'Miss July' 1969 For Campus Dance

Miss Nancy McNeil, Playboy's July 1969 Playmate, will be a special guest at the Snow Ball tomorrow night.

The five foot two, brown-haired, blue-eyed Miss July is being brought to the Texarkana College campus by the Circle K organization, a service club sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and under the direction of Ken Burkhalter.

Nancy was discovered by photographer Bill Figge when she was a bridesmaid in a friend's wedding. After the ceremony, as the attendants were posing with the bride for pictures, Figge and his wife asked Nancy if she would like to audition for Playmate. She is the sixteenth playmate to be found and photographed by Bill Figge.

She is from Alhambra, Cal., and some of her hobbies include gardening, refinishing antique furniture, and reading. Nancy's main ambition in life is to make other people happy.

Circle K members urge all students to attend the Snow Ball tomorrow night. This formal dance will be held in the Student Center Ballroom from 8-12; tickets are $3 a couple.

For Sophomores Only

Today is the day to cast your vote for a new sophomore senator. David Moore and David Sellers are the candidates seeking this position.

The vacancy left by Roy Autrey, who resigned due to inability to attend meetings, will be filled by a senate election today from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Only sophomores are eligible to vote in this election; ID cards are required to obtain ballots.

Draft Lottery — A Reform?

Much fanfare and great expectation preceded the Dec. 1 draft lottery. Reform? In theory, maybe, but the hassle is still there. Some 250,000 young men will still be conscripted for military service in 1970. Only the method of selecting them has changed.

While the establishment of a lottery was unquestionably a step in the right direction, the step just isn't big enough.

There is, of course, another side of the coin. With no draft, an all-volunteer military could exist. To create this mercenary force, military pay would be raised to an incentive level, and benefits would be increased. But, in a mercenary army, there would be fewer questions raised and much less occasion for dissent in a military-industrial-complex.

One possible solution to this impasse would be to limit the volunteer's enlistment to, for example, a six year maximum term, thus abolishing the draft and still retaining a "civilian army." Some such solution is badly needed, for while the draft is grossly unjust to the individual's freedom, a mercenary army would be as bad, if not worse, for any chance the world has at peace and freedom.—Scot Chatterson

Where Will You Fit?

Where will you fit?

What is your aim in life? Have you set your goal?

Using the statistics compiled by insurance companies we find the figures look something like this: 100 men, starting out at age 25 — at age 65 (retirement age) we find: 1 per cent rich, 4 per cent financially secure, 5 per cent still working, 36 per cent dead, 54 per cent flat broke.

What category do you want to find yourself in at retirement age?

Here is a guideline to follow if you want to enter the successful 5 per cent. Develop the right attitude. Practice the Golden Rule and self-motivation (this is the key). How is this accomplished? By having enthusiasm, being aggressive, becoming informed, and practicing supervision and control.—Vermell Hall

Campus Questions Answered by Student

Q. Why are many students afraid of college administrators and faculty?

A. The fear that some students have for administrators usually begins in high school. Pre-college students hear many stories about college and college life long before they arrive on campus. These tales vary from the wonderful sex life to the mean old professors. It is the mean old professors that almost always hang in the mind of the college novice, thus causing fears that don't just walk away by themselves. The best remedy I know is for a student to use the office hours of the professor that frightens him most and get to know him on a personal basis.

Q. What is there to do at Texarkana College?

A. What a student does at school is what he likes best. If you can't find anything to do, there is always studying. Aside from studying, an interested student can apply for some campus clubs or play intramural sports. When I first came to Texarkana College I joined the debate team. I had no idea such a team existed until I searched for it. If a student wishes to belong to an organization and doesn't know the procedure, he might contact one of the counselors or a club president.—Marvin Abney

Betty Carter Speaks On Modern Writers To Faculty Wives

Mrs. Betty Carter, who after sixteen years of teaching English at Texarkana College resigned to devote her time to writing, spoke on Modern Literature at the Texarkana College Faculty Wives Association meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Errol R. Hatfield, No. 6 Palm Drive. Eleven members attended.

Mrs. Carter gave her ideas about modern-day writers with whom one can become involved. She explained her findings with reference to existentialism and compared the similarities between existentialism and Christianity.

The next meeting is planned tentatively for Dec. 11 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John B. Benson, 2022 Ash.

Gentle Virgos Make Good Nurses For Compassionate, But Emotional Pices

by Sharon Wyatt

If you want to live a long life and not look your age, you're in luck if you were born under the earth sign Virgo! Born between Aug. 23 and Sept. 23 Virgos are quick to learn; lovers of logic, they are exceptional with words, written or spoken. Symbolized by the Virgin these are gentle, simple, practical, and studious individuals whose chief desire is knowledge and mental refinement. Most Virgos love art and literature. One of your Virgo friends could really be a big help on any business test; they make superior accountants and secretaries and if you are sick, they may help you there too—they make excellent nurses.

Some Virgos among us are Barbara Graham, Terry Velvin, Pat Patman.

The best companions for these accountants are the Pices Feb. 19 to March 20. Their symbol is the water sign, Fish, the most mystical and occult of all the signs. They are compassionate to faults and cannot stand to see suffering of any kind. It is virtually impossible to force a Picean into any regimented code of behavior; they are ingeniously creative but intensely emotional. They can be quite shy but have a tendency to be changeable. Some are drawn to dancing, drinking, day dreams, and drugs but also to spiritual contemplation and mysticism.

Bob Richardson, Tim Harrison, Dixie O'Neil, and Barbara Linville were born under the Pices sign.

The universal horoscope for today says to be swift in work and get tasks out of the way, so you'll have time to prepare for that engagement tonight. Take extra precautions on appearance, dress your very best—you're advised to rest for half an hour before tackling evening arrangements.

ETSU Cadets on Campus To Discuss Air Force

Members of the Air Force ROTC Cadet Corps and Angel Flight of East Texas State University will be on campus between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 10.

They will be prepared to discuss their two-year program and the advantages of AFROTC. Their booth will be located in the Student Center. Interested students are invited to visit with them and see what they have to offer.

Christmas Programs For TSEA Members

Debbie Eaton, program chairman, presented a Christmas program at the Dec. 2 meeting of the T. S. E. A. She spoke on the various customs and traditions of the Christmas season.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at the home of Barbara Goodwin on Dec. 11. Members also made plans for their traditional Valentine tea honoring the TC faculty.

Professor, Students Attend Chemical Society Meeting

Albert Brown, Allen Glover, James E. Robinson and James H. Bennett, chemistry instructor, attended the November meeting of the American Chemical Society, Ark-La-Tex section, which was a dinner lecture meeting in the Student Center of Kilgore College.

Dr. James Stallings, chairman of the chemistry department, Sam Houston State College, Huntsville, Texas spoke to the group on "The Development of Commercial Uses for the Hydrocarbons C7 thru C14."

Parking your car at TC seems to have become quite a problem even if you park your car in the right place you still seem to get a parking ticket.

No dummy, not that kind of PLAYMATE!!

Delta Psi Omega Candidates Named

Delta Psi Omega, the national honorary fraternity for drama students, presently has five members on campus. They are Marsha Barnes, Walter "Lucky" Vinson, George Davis, Jo Gallagher, and Frank Howell.

Other possible candidates for membership are Beth Jacobs, James Harris, Betty McDonald, Don Shipp, Janet Johnson, Cynthia Clark, Lissy Dillion, Mary Wicker, Jack Elrod, Ann Heibert, and Melissa Claussen.

To qualify for this fraternity one must have played a major role in a three-act play or the equivalent in a one-act play or done outstanding stage work. The fraternity was founded to recognize and reward all phases of student participation in college play production.

The next meeting of Delta Psi Omega will be Dec. 9 at 9:30 a.m.

JOHN FRED AND HIS PLAYBOY BAND will provide music for the Snow Ball tomorrow night at TC. The annual event will be from 8 to 12 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom. Tickets will be $3 a couple; one Texarkana College ID card per couple will be required for admission.

Ross Perot to Speak All College Assembly Next Tuesday, 9:30 a.m.

Ross Perot, Dallas multimillionaire and TC alumnus, whose Nov. 18 Texarkana College speech was postponed due to bad weather and poor flying conditions, will return Tuesday, Dec. 9, during activity period to speak in the college auditorium to the TC student body.

"Here is a young man who has amassed a great fortune," said Mrs. Lois Duck, TC English teacher and former instructor of Perot, "More importantly, he is interested in young people and understands their problems."

Perot did get to Texarkana in time to speak to the afternoon session of the journalism and leadership forum.

Continuing her remarks on former student Perot, Mrs. Duck stated, "He's interested in the problems of our country, and has the money to do something about it. He has a message," concluded Mrs. Duck, "that all TC students cannot afford to miss."

Art Department Display in Center

Livening up the walls and corridors of the Student Center this week and next week are various artistic "creations" on display by members of the Art Department and other TC students.

Many of the works on display are for sale.

Ralph Caver, director of the art department, invites any TC students interested in exhibiting "original art work that can be displayed on the walls" to please contact the art department.

Who's Who at Texarkana College

The staff of TC '70, the campus yearbook, revealed the names today of ten sophomore students chosen recently to be honored in the Who's Who at Texarkana College section of the book.

Students to be honored are Todd K. Brown, Mrs. Kathleen Cantrell, Darla Fox, Paula Jones, John R. Kirkland, Michael L. Mayo, Lesley McGee, Mrs. Dana Park, Ann Thomas, and Tom L. Wallace.

Members of the TC faculty and administrators listed the names of students they felt should receive this honor in secret ballot fashion. The ballots were counted and the ten names appearing most often became the 1970 Who's Who members.

Selections were based on scholarship, leadership, and citizenship. These ten students have all excelled in these three areas.

TODD K. BROWN, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reaves of 1706 West 18th Street. Todd is president of the Student Senate, a member of Circle K and is presently serving as Lt. Gov. of Dist. III for Circle K. His major field of study is premed.

MRS. KATHLEEN HOLT CANTRELL of 2610 Wood Street is a nursing student at TC. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and is also taking courses in the business and psychology departments.

DARLA FOX, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson D. Fox of Avery, is vice-president of Blue Jackets and serves as a sophomore senator on the Student Senate. Darla plans to continue in the field of psychology.

PAULA JONES, also a sophomore senator, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Jones of 409 Wilson. Paula's major field is journalism. She is active in Blue Jackets and French Club.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kirkland of Atlanta, JOHN R. KIRKLAND is president of Phi Theta Kappa. He also serves as head photographer for both the campus yearbook and newspaper. He hopes to continue his studies in chemistry.

MICHAEL L. MAYO serves as vice-president of Phi Theta Kappa. Mike's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Mayo of 115 Oak Hill Road. His other activities at TC include serving as Student Senate vice-president and membership in Circle K. Mike has been studying business at TC.

LESLEY MCGEE, the daughter of Mrs. Esther McGee of 1423 Wood Street is a member of Phi Theta Kappa. She is editor of the TC Campus News, and treasurer of Blue Jackets. Business Education and journalism are her chosen fields of study.

Editor of TC '70 is MRS. DANA PARK of Rt. 5, Box 260E. She is also reporter for Phi Theta Kappa. English and journalism are her major fields of study.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Thomas of 1202 State Line, Texarkana, Ark.,

ANN THOMAS, serves TC as Blue Jacket president. She is a member of French Club and business manager for the campus yearbook.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil L. Wallace, TOM WALLACE, is president of TC's Circle K organization. Tom also holds the office of Student Senate treasurer. His selected field of study is accounting.

RECITAL—Freshman Sharon Camp gives her musical interpretation of "Voi Che Sapete" and "Chinese Nursery Rhymes" at the student recital Nov. 25, at the First Baptist Church. She is accompanied by Mrs. Sue McCrossen, instructor in the TC music department.

Music Department Student Recital Features Piano, Organ, Voice, Instruments

The Texarkana College Music Department presented a student music forum Nov. 25, at the First Baptist Church.

Students in the music department, under the direction of Murry Alewine, Sue McCrossen, Gary Bond, Nona Culpepper and James Herrin, who participated in the forum were Jim Barone, snare, playing "Glenwood Boy;" George Frazier, tenor saxophone, "Two Bourees from 3rd Cello Suite;" Carole Kelley, organ, Praeludium in g minor;" Sharon Camp, piano, "Sonatina-op. 55, no. 3;" Cliff Garner, trombone, "Allegro Etude;" Michael Walston, alto saxophone, "Elle est Partie;" Sylvia Ault, organ, "Alle Menschen Mussen Sterben."

Debra Smith, soprano, sang "He's Gone Away" and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes;" Mark Neal, Tenor, "The Vagabond" and "The Green-Eyed Dragon;" David Sellers, baritone, "Pui m'iepiaga quel oiglio nero" and "In diesen heiligen Hallen;" Sarah Taylor, soprano, "Rugidose, ordase" and "Lovliest of Trees;" Sharon Camp, soprano, "Voi Che Sapete" and "Chinese Nursery Rhymes;" Nancy Hicks, soprano, "Music I Heard With You" and "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings;" and Beth Brine, a preparatory division student, sang "When Love is Kind" and "The Blue Madonna."

BARITONE — David Sellers, baritone, accompanied by Murry Alewine, division chairman of the TC music department, presented "Pui m'iepiaga quel ciglio nero" at the music recital Nov. 25.

Christmas Gift Idea—Why not Chocolates for Christmas or for no reason at all? They're available from any Phi Theta Kappa member or James Bennett in the Chemistry Building.

'Tex' to Hawaiian Friends Sue Ellen to Texarkanians

by Pat Jackson

"Tex" was the nickname Sue Ellen Thomas received from her Hawaiian friends while visiting her sister on the island of Oahu this summer.

The trip was a graduation present from her parents, and she used her own money for spending.

Barefooted and wearing a T-shirt and shorts, Sue Ellen sat back in an easy chair and commented on how the Hawaiian people are so relaxed. "They do not worry about anything; they just take things as they come." You don't wear shoes very much or outfits; you just throw on something," she said.

"The whole place is completely different from here," she said, "because the ocean is everywhere." While visiting Punchbowl Cemetery, she climbed up on a lookout and saw the whole island surrounded by ocean, plus two other main islands.

She visited Pearl Harbor and the Memorial of the Arizona. "Reading the long list of names and realizing the men were still down there was real sad," she commented. "It was pretty, though."

Once Sue Ellen spent three days looking around in Ala Moana, a big shopping center of about 155 shops. Also, she went to the International Market Place, which consists of a group of shops from different lands.

Her average day made up sleeping till 1:00, then going down to the beach to swim and surf, or walk around town. "There is always something to see from the strange-looking people to the funny tourist," she said. Once she saw Don Ho, the Hawaiian singer.

Sue Ellen went to a pop festival in Diamond Head crater, a dead volcano made into an auditorium, featuring local popular groups. "The Hawaiian people's lives revolve around music," she commented.

She also commented on the drug use by students over there. "Alcohol is not a big thing; smoking marijuana is real common," she stated.

Her biggest impression was made when flying back to LA; she saw a beautiful sunrise over the ocean. "You could see the red ball of the sun rising between the ocean and the level of darkness of the sky."

Sue Ellen wants to go back in May and work, and she would like to attend the University in Hawaii.

FINAL PERFORMANCE—Tonight will be the last opportunity for TC students to see "The Glass Menagerie" in the college auditorium. The fall production of the drama department is being staged in a three-quarter round setting with the audience seated only a few feet from the actors. During a dress rehearsal this past week the crew takes a break to serve as the audience while Laura (Jo Gallagher) and Jim (James Harris) rehearse their lines.

SOUVENIRS—Sue Ellen Thomas shows off the grass beach towel she got this summer while visiting in Hawaii. She now displays the towel in her room along with leis, shells, and various other mementos of her trip.

Open Air Concert Noon Today by Choir At Oaklawn Center

Texarkana College Choir will present its annual open air Christmas concert today at 12 noon at Oaklawn Shopping Center in the Montgomery Ward Parking lot, according to Mrs. Sue McCrossen, assistant professor of music.

The program is in cooperation with Mrs. Ralph Parks, coordinator for Oaklawn Merchants Association. The TC Choir appearance is the first of a series of concerts to be conducted during the holiday season.

The 25 member choir will render traditional carols, sacred choruses, spirituals, and folk carols accompanied by guitar and recorder, Mrs. McCrossen stated.

Project to Aid Girl In Shrine Burn Clinic

The TC Blue Jackets and Texarkana College Faculty Wives Club will be taking a very active part in a program to help 14-year-old Pamela Beck, a patient in the Shriner's Burn Center in Galveston.

Pamela lost her family and home in a fire about two weeks ago, and she is suffering with third degree burns above her waist. She was flown to Galveston Nov. 28 on a mercy flight by Red River Arsenal. James Parsons, TC biology instructor, made the trip with her to administer "in-flight" medical care.

After Mr. Parsons explained the unfortunate situation, the Blue Jackets decided to make this their Christmas project.
