The Four Freshmen To Sing Here Dec. 5

The Four Freshmen, a popular singing quartet, will appear at the Texarkana College Auditorium December 5, at 8 p.m. This will be the second performance of the Auditorium Series.

In 1948, calling themselves "The Tappers", The Four Freshmen organized a singing quartet at the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music in Indianapolis. After changing to the name that was to bring them success, they managed to fall short of setting the world on fire. During their first two years, the group was making lots of records, but very little money.

The group's big break finally came! Stan Kenton, a pioneer in the field of modern music, just happened to hear them in Dayton, Ohio. Kenton was so impressed that he convinced Capitol records to sign the Freshmen to a contract. The rest, as the saying goes, is history.

The Freshmen have been honored time and time again by Downbeat, Playboy, Billboard, and many other leading publications, as the Nation's "Best Vocal Group."

"Musicianship" is the real key to the Four Freshmen's success. They sing, with comparative ease, complex and difficult arrangements that the average vocal group would never even attempt.

The group is always in search for new challenges, new harmonic worlds to conquer. That's the attitude that keeps the fabulous Four Freshmen appealing to millions of discriminating music fans everywhere.

All seats will be reserved. Tickets may be purchased at the Music Building before the performance or at the door. The cost will be $2.50, $2.00, or $1.50.

Regents Appoint Norman Russell

Mr. Norman Russell, local attorney, was appointed last week to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Mr. Burnham B. Jones from the TC Board of Regents.

A government and history major, Mr. Russell graduated from East Texas State College with B.A. and M.A. degrees. He also holds a Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Texas Law School.

From 1941 to 1946 Mr. Russell saw extensive service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and was active in Boston, Memphis, Baltimore and Atlanta.

Beginning his active law practice in Texarkana in 1946, Mr. Russell was City Attorney of Texarkana, Texas from 1947 to 1953. From 1961 to 1964 he was Director of the State Bar of Texas from the First Congressional District. He has served on various committees of the Texas Bar Association.

Mr. Russell is associated with the law firm of Atchley, Russell, Hutchinson and Waldrop of Texarkana.

Phi Beta Lambda Entertains Guests

Members of Phi Beta Lambda, the fraternity for business administration students at Texarkana College, entertained guests with a dessert coffee in the Continental Room of the Student Center November 17 at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Dana Massey, activities chairman, introduced Mr. H. J. Trammell, president of Farmers' Fertilizer Co., who presented slides and narrated his travels in Russia. Trammell pointed out differences in economic conditions in the United States and Russia which he observed during a 1963 tour of Russia as a representative of the Department of Agriculture, State of Oklahoma.

The Texarkana College chapter of Phi Beta Lambda was organized in 1961. Mrs. Dell M. Jacobs is club sponsor. Other activities for the current year will include a guest luncheon and a business-industry tour. Officers of the club are William Anderson, president; Pat Morgan, secretary; Paula Jones, secretary; Fred Downs, reporter; Activities Chairman, Dana Massey; and student senate representative, Dan R. Johnson.

The following members and guests were present: Bernard Bridges, Roberta Corbell, Melva Privitt, Randy Broz, Paula Jones, Butch Williams, Mary Beth Wait, Doug Hance, Susan Taylor, Diann Lummus, Barbara Lynn Morris, Becky Upson, Dana Massey, Judy Sims, Muriel Marie Mathis, Joyce Taylor, Patricia Worley, Judy Elaine Webster, Mike Walker, Fred Downs, Lynn Downs, Diana Smith, Pat Morgan, Linda Simmons, Juanita Musgrave, Betty Moss, Anita Swint, Mrs. James M. Swint, Sr., Mrs. H. J. Trammell, Mrs. Margaret Montgomery, Burnham B. Jones, and Earl W. Jacobs.

Board OK's Science Complex

Construction of a new biology building on the TC campus will begin immediately, according to an announcement by the college Board of Regents November 10.

The biology building will be the first of a science complex consisting of four buildings which will be erected near the corner of Tucker Street and Coolidge Street. (See picture on this page.) The second of the four buildings will be for chemistry, and these first two are expected to be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall semester next year. Later a third building to be used for physics and data processing classes will be constructed, and then a fourth one will be for nursing, according to President J. W. Cady.

Each of the four buildings will face in a different direction, and a large parking area is to be laid out adjoining Coolidge Street.

The biology building will be constructed by Dixie Builders, Inc., low bidder on the project at $78,000.

At present biology, chemistry, physics, and data processing classes and laboratories are located in the administration building, along with the library, language laboratories, business administration classes, and the Evening College. Construction of the science complex will do much to relieve the crowded situation at Texarkana College and to take care of the expected increase in enrollment during the next few years.

The Henry W. Stilwell Memorial Residence To be Dedicated November 29 in Waco, Texas

The Henry W. Stilwell Memorial, a residence for retired teachers of Texas, will be dedicated Sunday afternoon, November 29, at 2 p.m. The dedication will be in the Memorial Residence at Lake Air Center, Waco, Texas.

Computer Expert Talks To College Students

Dr. James R. Oliver, Dean of the Graduate School and Director of the Computing Center at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, Lafayette, spoke on the Texarkana College campus November 12 and 13.

He spoke to students presently enrolled in data processing courses and to engineering, science, language, and mathematics classes on the use of computers and their possibilities. Dr. Oliver chose computers for his discussion because of the influence they have and will have on our lives. "In years to come the use of computers will be greatly expanded because of the

The Memorial Residence was erected in honor of the late Henry W. Stilwell, President of Texarkana College from its founding in 1927 until his death November 29, 1959.

Dr. Stilwell, for a long time the chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Texas State Teachers Association, was highly respected and loved by the teachers of Texas, and during the latter part of his life he was often referred to as Mr. Education in Texas.

An invitation for Texas Teachers to attend the dedication service on November 29 has been sent to all educational institutions throughout the state from the Board of Directors of the Memorial Residence.

PROSPECTIVE SCIENCE COMPLEX—This picture shows the proposed science complex of four buildings to be constructed near the corner of Tucker and Coolidge streets. The structure on the upper right side of the complex is the proposed biology building, construction of which is to begin immediately. These two are to be ready for use next September. The one for engineering and physics shown in lower left, and for nursing, lower right, will follow later.

A Sad Situation

Take time to stroll by the corner of Tucker Street and Robinson Road. Stop and observe the pretty brick sign with the letters "TEXARKANA COLLEGE—E". Disheartening, isn't it?

Twice the Tee Cee Club has replaced various letters that have been removed from the sign. The Tee Cee Club is to be commended for attempting to beautify and identify Texarkana College by assuming the responsibility of building and maintaining this sign. However, because of the childish pranks of an unknown few, the spirit of the entire project has been dampened.

Who could blame the Tee Cee's for becoming discouraged? They have spent time and money trying to be of service to TC and TC students. That means You.

Surely college students are not guilty. We believe that the culprits must be younger people. Innocent pranks are fun, but stealing letters from a sign should not provide a great thrill.

Perhaps if the Tee Cee's or some other club will replace the missing "g" of "college", Texarkana's infants will be satisfied to play with the letters they already have.

Literature—a Criterion

Edith Hamilton, one of the most famous 20th century historians, has stated that a people's literature gives more knowledge of them than any other factor. If this be true, woe be unto us. What will our grandchildren think of us?

We will have to admit that we enjoy reading the realist authors as much as anyone else. Still, the United States is rearing more realists than romanticists. We have been rearing plenty of John O'Haras and D. H. Lawrences. And they get all of the publicity! Why don't we honor our other authors who have contributed so much to the American literary field?

The 20th century has seen such ubiquitous novels as PEYTON PLACE, TROPIC OF CANCER, THE CARPETBAGGERS, FROM THE TERRACE, and SOME CAME RUNNING.

Let's hope that a thousand years from now people will not judge us from these "best-sellers".

Ah, music—the elfin spirit that embraces the saddened heart in the cool night wind of despair, and bestows passionate caresses of golden notes upon the weeping soul.

If anybody ever hears a sound that fits that description, let me know, will you? Right now I am trying to recuperate my ears from the "music" created by a distinct group of musicians who have the habit of performing during my biology lab on Thursdays. Located strategically across from the lab in the bandhall, this little combo must never get enough fresh air. They always seem to have the windows open. Unfortunately.

Results? Cracked slides and nerves to match. Nothing like observing bacilli to the steady staccato of a snare drum. (Who's responsible for this—David, Brad, Steve, or who?)

Oh, don't get me wrong. I like their music. Especially the occasional vocalizing done by a couple of the group. After a few choruses you learn to like it or else!

While we're on the subject of music, how about the pianos in the Student Center? Almost any time of day you may find students gathered around these popular instruments for gay, sociable sing-alongs. There you may be treated to various long-hair selections from Bach, Beethoven, and Floyd Cramer.

Then, of course, there's always the juke box concerts during the free periods on Tuesdays and Thursdays. You can show your appreciation to these gatherings by participating in such ceremonious movements as the "Dog" and the "Swim". What I don't get about this musical activity is that nobody seems to dance much. It's very obvious that everybody wants to—why else would they come and stare at the few that do?

Boys, it's your move. Ask the

Le Cercle Francais Plans Guest Luncheon

Le Cercle Francais, at its November meeting, made plans for a luncheon to be held in honor of Mr. George Duca, who is secretary of the Federation of French Alliances and who will be on the TC campus December 11 as a guest of the club.

Following the business session, members enjoyed a French version of the party game, "Who am I?" after which they were served refreshments.

The French club, sponsored by Mrs. Betty Carter, now sports navy blue sweat shirts with the words "Chemise de Transpiration" printed on the front.

The club has been noticed at Bulldog games and pep rallies, extending its support and encouragement to the team.

fantastic increase in the speed of computers and the continuing decrease in the cost per operation of the machine," he said.

In defining the two terms, computer and computing, as information processor and information processing, Dr. Oliver made his discussion more understandable. He also emphasized the use of computers in educational activities which he defined as the process of teaching by formal means with computing machines. Several other fields were discussed in which computer machines are and will be used.

STRENGTH IN WHAT REMAINS BEHIND

"Now he is gone. Today we mourn him. Tomorrow and tomorrow we shall miss him. And we shall never know how different the world might have been had fate permitted this blazing talent to live and labor longer at man's unfinished agenda for peace and progress for all..."

Adlai E. Stevenson
November 27, 1963.

On November 22, 1963, an avowed Marxist shot and killed President John F. Kennedy, one of the greatest statesmen the world has ever seen and one of the greatest presidents this nation has ever had.

Although it has been almost one year since that fatal day, it seems like only yesterday that our President said, "Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country." These words, spoken by President-elect John F. Kennedy at his inauguration on that bleak and snowy day in January, 1961, will live for generations to come.

John F. Kennedy also said in his inaugural address that we should never negotiate from fear, nor should we fear to negotiate. This belief shows his bravery and his conviction that refusing to compromise is, in effect, saying, "I am above human fallacies."

He came to know well in his thousand days as President what Ralph W. Emerson meant when he said, "To be great is to be misunderstood."

When the assassin's bullet fatally wounded President Kennedy, the murderer placed JFK in the hearts of most Americans. His bullets penetrated the souls of all Americans when he took it upon himself to rid the American people of their leader. John Fitzgerald Kennedy was never so great in the minds of some people and, at the same time, never so hated by others as he was at that moment when he was assassinated on the streets of Dallas.

Although many of us still feel the agony of John Kennedy's death, his memory remains with us as a constant reminder of his energy, dedication, faith, and courage. Time will never destroy that memory, but will make that memory more profound.

Re-considering JFK's famous challenge, will we be American enough to ask what we can do for our country, instead of constantly asking what our country can do for us?

We have in the past; we must again dedicate ourselves to a great America in the future. Let us continue; we must continue.

John F. Kennedy would have us to be as William Wordsworth stated in his poem "Ode on the Intimations of Immortality":

"Though nothing can bring back the hour
Of splendor in the grass,
Of glory in the flower;
We will grieve not,
rather find
Strength in what remains behind."

"His time came, then flashed by like a streaking star
In the hush of dusk."

girls to dance. They won't bite your arms off if you offer to lead them out to the dance floor. Why do you think they've been staring at you for the past half hour?

Well, enough music for now, music lovers. I think it would be a losing battle, but if you happen to be a music hater, you might try to discourage its abundance by starting a "TC Beatle Despiser Club" or "National Cotton-in-the-Ear Year".

Or something.

"Let the word go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans—born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by harsh and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage—and unwilling to witness or permit the slow undoing of human rights to which this nation has always been committed."

Nationally Known Bishop's Company To Appear at TC

America's nationally known Bishop's Company will appear in person December 15 at the regular assembly to present highlights from George Bernard Shaw's classic play SAINT JOAN.

This play deals forthrightly and fearlessly with the problems and questions that lie heavy on the conscience of the modern world.

The coveted role of Saint Joan will be played by Renee Rozan, who will share honors with Merle Harbach and Tom Deven.

SAINT JOAN is the story of the simple country girl who through the inspiration of her own faith crowns a king and saves France for its historic identity. Fearless when she believed she was serving God's purpose on earth, she led her nation to victory and herself to martyrdom. The light of her brilliant achievements has shown through the centuries as an inspiration to anyone whose concern with conscience becomes a motivation in life.

The Bishop's Company, founded in Los Angeles in 1952 by Phyllis Beardsley Bokar, has achieved the enviable record of twelve years of consecutive national touring bringing fine drama into the house of worship in the fifty states and in five provinces of Canada. It has appeared in over 6,000 churches of all denominations and has a performance record of only two performances missed (because of weather) in its over one million miles of touring.

The Bishop's Company appears at Texarkana College by arrangement of the Methodist Student Organization and by invitation of the assembly committee.

'Dogs Win Championship Of 1964 TJCFF Conference

The Bulldogs in taking the game Saturday night from the Henderson County Cardinals won the Texas Junior College Football Federation conference championship, the first conference championship for the TC squad since 1959. The score was 18-13.

TC Players Organize

Think you can act . . . or design scenery . . . or paint flats . . . or make costumes . . . or are interested in any part of the theater? If so, there is a place for you in the Texarkana College Players.

This newly organized group under the sponsorship of Joe Downs will promote interest and participation in theater activities and provide quality entertainment for members, the student body, and the community.

At an organizational meeting Thursday, November 5, the ground work for the TC Players was laid. A constitution was adopted and the following officers were elected: Neal McMurry, president; Robert Minton, vice-president; Betty Stanley, secretary; Jean Sava, treasurer; and Joe Pondrom, Student Senate Representative. Committee co-chairmen appointed were: Wendy Ellis and Kay Logino, promotion; Carolyn Maley and Roberta Johnson, hospitality.

Membership is still open, and all those considering joining are invited to do so.

"The best ten years of my wife were from 39 to 40."

The championship may mean a bowl bid for the Bulldogs. As The Kennel goes to press Coaches Bobby Fox and Tom Collins are attending a meeting in Dallas trying to determine the possibilities of a bowl berth for their Canines. The conference championship is the first one for Coach Fox.

Played in shivery 25-degree weather, the Bulldogs were out front during every quarter. The score was 6-0 at halftime, and the Canines took an 18-0 lead with two more touchdowns in the third quarter.

The most spectacular plays of the game were a 61-yard run by TC's Houston in the third quarter, and a touchdown pass caught by the Cardinal's Rick Loyd in the fourth. Each player on each team played bang-up ball, each team seemed determined to win, and the only chilly thing about the game was the weather.

The Bulldogs finished the year with a 5-1-1 conference record, and a 7-3-1 season record.

Great Interest Shown In Real Estate Course

Forty-five persons are enrolled in TC's first course in Basic Real Estate, according to Billy J. Murdock, director of the Evening College.

The course in Basic Real Estate was set up by approval of the Texas State Board of Realtors, and according to Murdock it is the only course of this type offered in the Four States area between Little Rock and Dallas.

P. M. Brown, Connor Patman, and Bob Cheatham, local realtors, are the instructors for the course. The 30-hour 10-weeks course, which meets one night a week from 7 to 10 p.m., is required before a real estate salesman can acquire a license in Texas.

This is just one in a series of classes offered by the Evening College in its expanded adult education program. This series of classes are non-credit courses and do not require entrance examinations.

Another Basic Real Estate course is scheduled to begin January 11.

Winners in the women's intramural archery tournament were Ina Alford, left, 1st place, and Elizabeth Fry, 2nd. There were 34 participants. Ina scored 194 points to Elizabeth's 185. Forty-eight arrows were shot — two rounds of 24 arrows at 20 feet, and two rounds of 24 at 30 feet. The two will receive honorary awards.

TC's Win Over Kilgore Rangers Puts Conference Lead in a Tie

The Bulldogs tied for the conference lead after running over the Kilgore Rangers Saturday night at Grim Stadium with a score of 22-7. The win tied TC with Henderson with a standing of 5-1-1 in the Texas Junior College Football Federation.

TC gave Kilgore her worst beating of the year. On the opening kickoff, TC received the ball on her own 37. After three fine pass plays by freshman quarterback Jimmy Smith, Roger Stansbury, end, received a 7-yard pass to go over for a touchdown. The PAT by David McKinney was good.

The Rangers tied the score after receiving a punt on their own 19. Ranger quarterback Doc Holliday fired a 75-yard pass to halfback Fred Branch for Kilgore's only TD. Joe Johnston kicked the extra point.

The Bulldogs' second score came with 3:35 left in the second quarter. After some fine running and passing from Smith, Stansbury, and Leroy Willeford, Ronnie Nance carried the ball for the TD. Because of the rain, the wet ball slipped off McKinney's foot and the PAT was no good.

Neither team could break through for a touchdown during the third quarter.

In the final period, Ray Sewell intercepted a Kilgore pass and returned it to the Ranger 37. Quarterback Reed Mobley, from Arkansas High, led the Bulldogs to the Ranger 7, and McKinney kicked a field goal on the fourth down.

The third touchdown came late in the final quarter when the 'Dogs took over the ball after a Kilgore punt. Nance worked the ball to the 1-yard line on two running plays, where Eddie Atkins and Fred Parks formed a block for Smith who went over for the TD. Smith's pass to Richard Houston was knocked away by Kilgore's halfback Fred Branch.

Wharton Pioneers Tie Bulldogs, 7-7

The Bulldogs mixed it up with the Wharton Pioneers before a homecoming crowd of 5,000 at Wharton November 7, with the game ending in a 7-7 tie.

The opening quarter set the pattern for the whole game as neither team could drive the ball across the other's 40-yard line.

Wharton got a break in the second quarter when Reed Mobley backed up to punt on his own six, got a low snap from center, fumbled, and the Pioneers recovered. On the third down, Wharton's Paul Fry found an opening in the middle and went through for the touchdown. The PAT was good.

The Bulldogs came on stronger after half time to even the score when Rusty Kohler and McKinney separated Fry from the ball on TC's 41. On the third down Smith and Houston started things rolling. Smith passed the ball and hit Houston on the enemy's 40. The freshman speedster left two tacklers empty handed, outran the last opposing player, and went over for the TD. McKinney tied the score as his kick for the extra point split the upright.
