Professional Nurses Elect Orr President

The professional nurses have elected Prudy Orr to head their club for this year.

Other officers elected are Diana McClung, vice-president; Ted Mason, recording secretary; Joan Eakin, corresponding secretary; Erline Jones, treasurer; Mary Dorsett, historian; Shirley Norwood, parliamentarian; Dana Stanberry, reporter.

Mrs. Elizabeth Willis and Mrs. Etha Hand are the club sponsors.

The club voted to have a money-raising project soon for the purpose of sending representatives to the Student Nurses Association meeting which will be held in conjunction with the Texas Graduate Nurses Association convention in the spring. The group plans to present a Christmas program for the Texarkana Graduate Nurses Club, and appointed the following committee for that purpose: Ted Mason, Mary Dorsett, Dana Stanberry, Nancy Brown, and Loy Frost.

The regular meeting date of the club is the first Tuesday of each month, at 3 p.m. in room 204 of the administration building.

PHI THETA KAPPA fall initiates—seated: James A. Hobby, Mrs. Gloria Byers Melson, Martha Jewell, Patsy R. Cardwell, and Annabel Greisser. Standing: Joyce E. Leavelle, Mrs. Melba Merchant, Sheldon S. Glass, Mrs. Lillian P. Orr, and Richard H. Jones.

Honor Society Initiates Ten

The Zeta Sigma chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national scholastic society, initiated 10 students in the Continental Room of the Student Center November 7.

The new members are Patsy R. Cardwell, Shep Glass, Annabel Greisser, James A. Hobby, Martha Jewell, Richard R. Jones, Joyce E. Leavelle, Mrs. Gloria B. Melson, Mrs. Melba Merchant, and Mrs. Lillian P. Orr.

Officers performing the fall initiation were Alan Haile, President; Kenneth Burkhalter, Vice-President; Rosie Hodde, Secretary; and Shann Smith, Treasurer. Displaying the shield of the honor society, Kenneth Burkhalter explained that the Greek letters of Phi Theta Kappa represent wisdom, aspiration, and purity. Alan Haile administered the pledge to the initiates. Following the pledge, the old and new members formed a circle joining hands and sang "Phi Theta Kappa", the theme song, as Shann Smith supplied the music at the piano.

The guest speaker was Mrs. William Barber, an English instructor and a sponsor of the English Club. Mrs. Barber focused her speech on "How to Correct the Erroneous and Unflattering Picture of the Intellectual Person." Relating several methods for revising this attitude, Mrs. Barber advised the Phi Theta Kappans to avoid going to extremes in intellectual specialization, but rather to develop a variety of interests and to voice convictions, not keeping their intellect to themselves. Mrs. Barber recommended three books that have embodied eternal truths for all people through the ages: "Consolation of Philosophy," by Boethius, "Imitation of Christ," by Thomas A. Kempis, and "Religio Medici," by Sir Thomas Browne.

Other officers and members who participated in the event were: Sandi Weldin, Historian; Lesley Sims, Reporter; Olivia Booker; Carolyn Ely; and Mary Hodde.

Miss Lucile Couch presided at the punch service. Other guests were the families and friends of members and the faculty of TC. Phi Theta Kappa faculty sponsors present were Miss Edith S. Larson and James H. Bennett.

Pakistani Brothers Bring Oriental Atmosphere to TC Campus

By Lesley Sims

Shah in Shah Alam and Atta Ullah Jan, natives of Peshawar, Pakistan, are two distinct and welcome additions to the TC student body this semester. They are new arrivals to the U.S., having been here for only three months. Shah is 21, and Jan, as he's called by his American friends, is 19. These brothers explained that last names are not used in Pakistan. Names have definite meanings there. To insure their children of a prosperous future, the parents give them names with good meanings. Shah in Shah means the Emperor of the World, and Atta Ullah Jan means Gift of God.

Diverse as their culture is from ours, there are still some striking similarities. They also have a democratic president. Instead of two Houses of Congress, their governing body consists of a National Assembly and a Provincial Assembly. Along the similar lines of our two major political parties, they have the Government and the Moslem League.

They are Moslems, belonging to the Islam religion, and worshipping Allah, whom they also refer to as God. Five times a day they pray to Allah: before the sun rises, at noon, between noon and the setting of the sun, as the sun sets, and before retiring to bed. The Koran is their bible. They worship in mosques, Moslem churches. Both Moses and Christ are prophets to them. Following the rules of the Islam religion, they abstain from eating pork and bacon and refrain from drinking alcoholic beverages.

Our custom of dating is nonexistent in Pakistan. When a man can afford a wife and a house, his parents make the arrangements with the parents of the girl. In some places babies are married to each other, so the man has a wife reserved for him when he is able to support her. Contrary to popular belief, polygamy, though accepted there, is not too prevalent. Only the rich can afford more than one wife. The divorce rate is quite low. Instead of going through the legal procedures as we do, the Moslems have a simple and symbolic method for ending a marriage. The husband casts three stones at his wife, one by one, and says "I divorce you." each time a stone is thrown.

The native dress is the "shalwar", a pair of loose full slacks worn by both the men and women, although the feminine element wears a long skirt over the "shalwar".

Shah and Jan are impressed and amused by the dance "crazes" of Americans. In Pakistan only the high government officials dance and each has just one dancing partner—his wife.

American motorists had better beware when he takes to the roads of Pakistan. He must drive on the left side of the road and would probably find the steering wheel on the right side of the car. The reason for Pakistan's scarcity of accidents may be attributed to the fact there are fewer cars there than in the U.S., though a typical man's view might be that as a rule there are no women drivers; therefore, the accident rate is low.

Pakistan, approximately the size of Texas and Oklahoma combined, is a fairly young country. It separated from India in 1947. The climate goes to extremes with cold winters and hot summers.

Activities of the Moslem women are limited compared to their American "sisters". They do not hold jobs, smoke, or even do the shopping. The men of the family or the servants shop in markets, but the women are allowed to purchase cloth.

What does the future hold for our two Pakistan students? They plan to major in electronics in the U.S., since their native country is deficient in electronical engineers and the profession is lucrative money-wise. After attending TC, the brothers intend to further their education in Detroit, Michigan.

Just speaking with these foreign boys gives many TC students the urge to travel to Pakistan and learn their way of life, while the Moslem brothers are familiarizing themselves with the American way of life.

English Club to Hold Film Festival Nov. 25

The English Club will hold its annual film festival, showing the movie "A Time to Love and a Time to Die" at the First Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m., November 25.

Besides the 34 members of the English Club, students of the English classes who are maintaining an "A" average are also invited to attend.

SHAH IN SHAH AND ATTAULLAH JAN, Pakistani brothers, seem to be quite at home on the TC campus.

Drama Class To Read Lewis Carroll Classics

The Drama Class of the Speech Department will do a reading of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through a Looking Glass" at a date to be announced. The reading will be in the Student Center and will be free of charge.

Artful Thievery in Art Department

Your trusting and susceptible editor has just placed four tubes of oil paints and a large brush into the sticky fingers of a thief. Though this represents a total loss of only a few dollars, several other painting students have succumbed to the wiles of this crafty burglar, who swipes the articles almost right before our unobserving eyes.

In making these raids, the anonymous caller waits until one of the rooms of the art building is devoid of people and then plunders the supplies. One of his peculiar quirks is his discrimination in pilfering. He may only take certain colors of paint or brush of a particular size.

Prior to this looting, we felt free to leave our paraphernalia in an accessible spot, so that at the beginning of the next class we could pick up immediately where we left off. Also if anyone of our fellow-artists wants to borrow, he is certainly welcome to, and could easily find what he needs.

Now this thievery has left us two disagreeable alternatives. First, we can lug the whole set of equipment home. This includes linseed oil, turpentine, canvases, various colored paints, pallet and pallet knife, and brushes, just to name some. Or we can put our supplee under lock and key and hope that our "fanatical friend" doesn't possess a talent for picking locks.

Does this situation affect you if you've never lifted a brush in your life and think a canvas is something that makes a nifty tent? Yes, for the simple reason that this culprit probably doesn't confine himself to just the fine arts as a source for his looting. Unguarded purses, books, slide rules, etc. might very well be a strong temptation for the bold bandit. He'd make a great magician the way he makes things disappear.

Of course the administration at TC is not at fault. The art building must be kept open during the day in order that students will be able to spend their spare time working on their paintings if they wish.

Let's put out more effort to keep an eye on everything we consider of value. I learned from experience. Will you?

—Lesley Sims

THE FRONT LINE IN EDUCATION

Ninety million persons read the comics daily, twice as many as turn to the editorial page, and half of these readers are described as "highly educated" in a report titled "The Funnies, an American Idiom," published by the Free Press of Glencoe, New York.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is reported to have headlined a new method for combatting the dropout problem as follows: "Bourbon Aids Dropouts." The translation: Bourbon County had voted funds to assist in the prevention of dropouts.

American and Canadian tobacco companies will curtail and eventually stop advertising in college newspapers and magazines and in football programs. Several large American companies are considering a self-regulating code that would ban athletes from being featured in cigarette ads.

Boston University and Yeshiva University in New York are sending teacher candidates into socially and culturally disadvantaged areas for pre-service experience. Typically, the beginning teacher has had his preparation in a "good" school in middle- or upper-class suburban communities, where he does not receive the training necessary to adapt successfully to the problems of the culturally-deprived community.

Team teaching is being greatly expanded in New York City this year. Operated last year as an experiment for 900 pupils in four schools, it will be enlarged this year to serve 7,500 elementary pupils in forty-one schools. Last year's pilot project resulted in improved quality of work and better discipline and attendance. Many parents have asked that their children be included in the expanded program.

The difference between men and women is even greater than you may think.

By examining any one of the body's approximately 30 trillion cells, a scientist can tell if it belongs to a man or a woman.

A man's brain is slightly heavier than a woman's, and the average red-blooded American male has 10% more red blood cells than his feminine counterpart. A woman's heart beats eight to ten times more per minute than that of her current heart-throb; if both live average life spans, she'll tick off some 300,000,000 more heartbeats than he will!

"Straight from the shoulder" is a male attitude. A man's arms do hang that way; in women, there's a definite bend at the elbow so that the lower arm extends outward at an angle. Similarly, a man's thighs and legs are in a straight line while a woman, by comparison, seems knock-kneed; her legs bend inward at the knee.

Relative to a man, a woman has a longer head, but a shorter neck; shorter limbs, but a longer trunk; a seated woman is relatively taller than a seated man.

Make Nominations Now For Miss TC

All organizations listed in the college catalogue are requested to make nominations for Miss Texarkana College to Mr. Willis by December 11.

No candidates will be listed on the ballot after that date.

Return Pictures Or Pay For Them

Most students who took their package of pictures, promising to pay for them later, have done so. A few have not. The pictures must be paid for soon or returned. We have the names of all who haven't paid.

Youth for Goldwater Getting Set to Go

Mr. Peter O'Donnell, Jr., chairman of the National Draft Goldwater Committee, announced that James Harff, a student at Northwestern University, has been named National Chairman of Youth for Goldwater.

O'Donnell stated that the Youth for Goldwater movement will be coordinated with the Draft Goldwater Committee throughout the nation.

Harff said that Youth for Goldwater is already setting up state organizations and Campus Clubs, with a goal of a Youth for Goldwater Club in every college and high school in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Off the Leash

By John Pearson

As I walked down the hall of the student center toward the snack bar, I realized how many faces I saw whose owners I did not know. Being a graduate from Texas High, I naturally knew several, but there were many more faces which I did not recognize.

I walked through the student center and made my way for the library where I planned to do some studying. I sat down beside a girl whom I recognized from French class. We struck up a conversation, and I learned that she was from Arkansas High.

Well, being from Texas High, I was astonished at finding such an amiable character hailing from Arkansas High. She introduced me to a friend of hers who was also from Arkansas.

Shock! Shock!

"You mean y'all are really from Arkansas High? I never realized that such likable people really went to that school."

I really wasn't kidding! It never entered my pea-sized brain that the same kind of people went to Arkansas High or any other high school who went to Texas High.

As I met more and more people, I realized that nice people can come from places like Hooks, Mount Pleasant, New Boston, Lewisville, Foulke, Hope, and even Arkansas High.

No one ever told me that people went to Arkansas High, and I was led to believe that people did not go there or any where else except Texas High. You can thus readily see why I was astonished at meeting some wonderful people from virtually every other high school in this area.

Nor had I ever met many kids from other schools. I really had no great urge to meet them. I didn't expect them to be as good as anyone from Texas High, anyway.

Well, now I know. You, sir, and you, m'am, are just as good as the best person who went to Texas High or any other high school—maybe even a little better!

I hope that you have not been as narrow minded as I have been, that your education in that area was not as limited as mine. Just because a fellow didn't go to your school doesn't mean that he can not be a nice guy. Take it from one who has learned his lesson.

Forget that you were once a Cardinal, a Rabbit, a Hornet, a Razorback, a Lion, or a Tiger. We all are now BULLDOGS!

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS THANKSGIVING DAY

Difference Between Men and Women Is Greater Than You Think

The difference between men and women is even greater than you may think.

By examining any one of the body's approximately 30 trillion cells, a scientist can tell if it belongs to a man or a woman.

A man's brain is slightly heavier than a woman's, and the average red-blooded American male has 10% more red blood cells than his feminine counterpart. A woman's heart beats eight to ten times more per minute than that of her current heart-throb; if both live average life spans, she'll tick off some 300,000,000 more heartbeats than he will!

"Straight from the shoulder" is a male attitude. A man's arms do hang that way; in women, there's a definite bend at the elbow so that the lower arm extends outward at an angle. Similarly, a man's thighs and legs are in a straight line while a woman, by comparison, seems knock-kneed; her legs bend inward at the knee.

Relative to a man, a woman has a longer head, but a shorter neck; shorter limbs, but a longer trunk; a seated woman is relatively taller than a seated man.

Though a man's vocal cords are longer and thicker than a woman's, she apparently gets in not only the last word, but the first one, too. Studying children in the same social brackets, psychologists found that little girls use longer sentences than little boys! Speech therapists say that stuttering is two to ten times as common in males as in females.

Each sex tends to hear its own voice better! A woman's hearing is keener than a man's in the higher frequency ranges, while men's ears pick up low notes more readily. The female tear ducts proved almost twice as active as those of the men! Color blindness affects one man in every 25, but only one woman in 250.

Which sex is really smarter? In general intelligence, men and women seem about equal, according to those who have studied results of modern IQ tests. However, more men than women seem to be found at either intellectual extreme. More males fall into the "feeble-minded" category.

Women, according to Dr. Justus J. Schifferes in the Family Medical Encyclopedia, are more easily hypnotized than men.

They are somewhat more apt to suffer from migraine headaches; a typical migraine victim, according to Dr. Schifferes, is a little woman with fine hair, a smooth complexion—and perfectionist tendencies! Women are sick about 20% more often than men, yet at any age, the female death rate is at least 25% lower than the male's!

Is it ever a man's world? Yes—few people realize that 105 boys are born for every 100 girls.

THE TRITONS—Dickie Adcock, George Brennan, and Alan Haile, are a very popular string ensemble group on the TC campus

Folksinging Trio Becomes Popular

The Tritons, a new addition to TC's vocal program this year, offer an exciting brand of folksinging, an entertainment medium that is at present skyrocketing in popularity throughout America.

In choosing their material, the three young men—Dickie Adcock, George Brennan, and Alan Haile—pick songs which naturally lend themselves to an enthusiastic, collegiate type of performance. Most of these songs come out of the American folk-song and ballad repertoire: honest, full and emotional songs which become even greater and more meaningful when sung with honesty, sincerity and dedication.

Frequently spiced with original songs and humor, the Trio's style was in the making for more than a year before the members joined the college program. The group has performed for a wide variety of clubs and parties—before audiences ranging in number from 15 to 1500 and in age from 8 to 80. They are presently appearing weekly on a local television program covering a large area in the four states.

Youthfulness and informal enthusiasm are the most important qualities of this trio. The members of this happy threesome have such a "whale of a good time" just being together and performing. And you can be sure that those who hear them do too!

Le Cercle Francais Meets With Young

Le Cercle Francais held its regular meeting at the home of Bill Young Monday night, November 11.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Shep Glass. Billy Traylor was elected Le Petit Gervais and Ann Biagioli, reporter.

For entertainment, Mr. Young showed the club slides of his recent trip to Jamaica. Afterwards, Mrs. Charles Carter, sponsor, led the members in a memory game of Le Petit Prince.

Officers for the year are:

President, Shep Glass; Vice-President, Ted Bounds; Secretary, Shann Smith; Treasurer, James George; Historian, Brenda Bratton; Reporter, Ann Biagioli; Parliamentarian, Sarah Shirey. The advisory Council is composed of Bill Case, Sarah Dumis, and Pat Scarborough. Other members present were Nita Fran Hutcheson, Erwin Tiller, Abbie Griesser, and Richard Blake.

Scholarship Fund Steadily Growing

The Circle "K's" W. P. Akin Scholarship Fund which was conceived shortly after the death of Mr. Akin, has exceeded all expectations thus far.

It was originally planned that the fund would provide the outstanding freshman of the club tuition for one semester at Texarkana College. Now that the fund ballooned to $300 in the space of a few weeks, plans are being made for a full year scholarship which may be enlarged later.

The scholarship fund is ahead of its timetable, due mainly to some generous donations to the memory of Mr. Akin and to the success of the club money-raising projects. Eventually, it is hoped that the interest on the fund's capital will be sufficient to provide money for the scholarship, thus allowing the fund to operate on a more permanent basis.

BURRUS TALKS TO W. P. AKIN CHAPTER STUDENT TEACHERS

The William Porter Akin Chapter of Texarkana College Student Teachers held its first meeting of the year, Thursday, October 31. Patsy Bowerman, president, introduced the new members to the teacher's pledge.

After a routine business session, Bill Young introduced Acting President C. C. Burrus who gave a talk on "The Teaching Profession." In his speech, President Burrus illustrated these three points: the purpose of schools, the development of brainpower, and the uneducated person. Also, he brought out the fact that today instead of training a student, a teacher tries to make him think for himself.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a period of recreation was held after which refreshments were served.

The club was organized to encourage college students to study to be teachers. The chapter has 34 members and is sponsored by Mrs. Grady Duck, a member of the English department at Texarkana College.

SHOULD AULD ACQUAINTANCE AND JAZZ LIKE THAT

I am now an elderly gentleman, full of years and aches, but my thoughts keep ever turning to my undergraduate days. This is called "arrested development."

But I cannot stop the healing tide of nostalgia that washes over me as I recall those golden campus days, those ivy-covered buildings (actually, at my college, there was only ivy: no bricks), those pulse-tingling lectures on John Dryden and Cotton Mather, the many friends I made, the many deans I bit.

I know some of you are already dreading the day when you graduate and lose touch with all your merry classmates. It is my pleasant task today to assure you that it need not be so; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, newsy, chatty bulletin, chock-full of tidings about your old buddies.

Oh, what a red-letter day it is at my house, the day the Alumni Bulletin arrives! I cancel all my engagements, take the phone off the hook, dismiss my resident osteopath, put the cheetah outside, and settle down for an evening of pure pleasure with the Bulletin and (need I add?) a good supply of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Whenever I am having fun, a Marlboro makes the fun even more fun. That filter, that flavor, that yielding soft pack, that firm Flip Top box, never fails to heighten my pleasure whether I am playing Double Canfield or watching the radio or knitting an afghan or enjoying any other diverting pursuit you might name—except, of course, spear fishing. But then, how much spear fishing does one do in Clovis, New Mexico, where I live?

But I digress. Let us return to my Alumni Bulletin and the fascinating news about my old friends and classmates. I quote from the current issue:

"Well, fellow alums, it certainly has been a wing-dinger of a year for us old grads! Remember Mildred Cheddar and Harry Camembert, those crazy kids who always held hands in Econ II? Well, they're married now and living in Clovis, New Mexico, where Harry rents spear-fishing equipment, and Mildred has just given birth to a lovely 28-pound daughter, her second in four months. Nice going, Mildred and Harry!

"Remember Jethro Brie, the man we voted most likely to succeed? Well, old Jethro is still gathering laurels! Last week he was voted 'Motorman of the Year' by his fellow workers in the Duluth streetcar system. 'I owe it all to my brakeman,' said Jethro in a characteristically modest acceptance speech. Same old Jethro!

"Probably the most glamorous time had by any of us old alums was had by Francis Macomber last year. He went on a big game hunting safari all the way to Africa! We received many interesting post cards from Francis until he was, alas, accidentally shot and killed by his wife and white hunter. Tough luck, Francis!

"Wilametta 'Deadeye' Macomber, widow of the late beloved Francis Macomber, was married yesterday to Fred 'Sureshot' Sigafos, white hunter, in a simple double-ring ceremony in Nairobi. Many happy returns, Wilametta and Fred!

"Well, alums, that just about wraps it up for this year. Buy bonds!"

Old grads, new grads, undergrads, and non-grads all agree: that good Richmond tobacco recipe, that clean Selectrate filter, have turned all fifty states of the Union into Marlboro Country. Won't you join the throng?

Bulldog Drummin'

by Johnny Green

The Bulldogs ended their Texas Eastern Conference season November 9 by belting Kilgore 24-3 on the Ranger field and boosted their TEC record to 4-2.

At the same time that the Canines were whipping Kilgore, Henderson County's Cardinals were having a real battle with the Tyler Apaches in Tyler. Tyler edged the Cardinals 15-14 to clinch at least a tie for the conference championship.

Tyler is the only team in the TEC that has beaten the Bulldogs and the Apaches have done it twice. The Canines dropped a 13-12 decision in Tyler and then dropped a 21-12 contest in the TC homecoming game.

Tyler has a 4-1 record in conference play and at the time that this column was written, the Apaches still had to meet the Kilgore Rangers. Kilgore defeated the Apaches 30-12 earlier in the season, and should the Rangers turn the trick again, then Tyler and TC would tie for the TEC championship.

The Bulldogs have won three straight games since homecoming and Coach Fox has had a time choosing players-of-the-week.

In the Bulldogs' 43-14 rout of Murray A&M of Oklahoma, halfbacks Eddie Cappelman and Leroy Williford and tackle Rex Wilson were picked as players-of-the-week. It was the fourth time this season that Rex has been chosen for the honor. Rex also got in some time at the fullback position and broke through the Aggie defense for several nice gains.

The 'Dogs edged Henderson County 3-0 in their next outing in what Coach Fox termed as "the best game we've played all year". Once again three players were chosen and two of them were linemen. End Henry Keeth, linebacker Frank Snodgrass, and defensive halfback Pat Anders were Fox's choices.

In the victory over Kilgore, halfbacks Birdie Taylor and Bernise Alderman and tackles Dwayne Reese and Skip Fielden were picked as players-of-the-week. It was the second time this season that Taylor, Alderman, and Reese have been chosen.

The Bulldog basketball team is progressing swiftly and showed their progress by whipping Southern State College of Magnolia, Arkansas, in a scrimmage game. The Canines also lost a scrimmage contest to Ouachita Baptist College of Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

Two Ohio boys, Bob Burns and Dave Shultz, have been the leading scorers for the 'Dogs in those games.

Remember that we need all the school spirit we can get. Be sure to attend the pep rallies.

to 12-3 at the half on a touchdown by Alderman, who again missed the PAT. Kilgore scored on a 30-yard field goal in the second quarter.

Another fullback, Billy Dale Sams, got into the scoring act in the third quarter on a two-yard plunge. Alderman's kick was wide and the Bulldogs led 18-3 after three quarters.

The final Bulldog tally came in the final period when defensive halfback Pat Anders intercepted a Ranger aerial and returned it 25 yards for the score. Alderman's kick was no good.

The victory gave the Bulldogs a 4-2 TEC record and a 5-4 slate for the year.

Bluejackets Discuss Their Constitution

The Texarkana College Bluejackets held their monthly meeting on November 4, 1963 in the home of Miss Mary Meadows.

Following a discussion of the Bluejackets' Constitution, Miss Mary Hodde asked questions, prepared by Judy Record, concerning the constitution. Then Mary Meadows and Rosie Hodde told about the Bluejackets' participation in the All Texas Air Tour and Kathy Stanford, Brenda Bratton, and Sharon Morris explained their assistance in the Junior League's presentation of Dick Whittington and His Cat.

Two new officers were elected to the offices of scrapbook keeper and reporter: Kathy King and Cecelia Stone, respectively.

Mary Meadows, Kathy King, and Cecelia Stone, hostesses for the meeting, served refreshments to the following Bluejackets: Lucile Couch, Brenda Bratton, Patsy Cardwell, Sara Dumas, Rose Hodde, Mary Hodde, Kay Mitchell, Nancy Smith, Shan Smith, Kathy Stanford, Trudy Stewart, and Sandi Weldin.

Bulldogs Wind Up Home Campaign With 51-7 Victory Over Hellcats

The Bulldogs wound up their home season Saturday, November 16, by displaying their best offensive showing of the season to down the Naval Air Station from Memphis, Tennessee, 51-7.

The Canines tallied twice in the opening period on a one-yard burst by quarterback Allen Christensen and on a pass from Christensen to Leroy Williford.

The Hellcats from Memphis got their only score on the next kickoff when the ball was returned 97 yards for the score.

Williford scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter as the 'Dogs rolled up 21 points and a 35-7 lead at the half. Williford ran three yards for one score and took a 17-yard pass from Reed Mobley for another. Christensen scored the final TD of the quarter on a three-yard sprint. Burnise Alderman kicked one extra point and passed to Rex Wilson on a tackle eligible play for another two.

The Bulldogs added their final tallies in the third period when Billy Dale Sams ran nine yards for a score and Henry Keeth took a 20-yard scoring pass from Mobley. Mobley and George Jett added extra points on runs.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Canines and upped their record to 6-5. Coach Fox and his charges will wind up their season Thanksgiving Day in Roswell, N. Mex., against the New Mexico Military Institute.

Bulldogs Down Rangers Twice This Season

The Bulldogs trekked to Kilgore Saturday, November 9, for their last Texas Eastern Conference game of the season and responded by scoring in every quarter to beat the Rangers 24-3.

TC Young Republicans Are Active With Meetings and Elections

TC Young Republicans recently honored Jim Sanders, treasurer of the Texas Federation of Young Republicans, with a party in the home of Marvin Williams. In a special meeting Jim discussed YR strategy for the '64 presidential election with District Committeeman George Covington.

The election of Jerry Morris as YR Chairman followed the resignation of Covington. Covington said he resigned to devote more time as district committeeman. He plans to use the TC YR Club as a cornerstone in the formation of a First Senatorial District YR Association. Other plans are to form at least one club in each of the 10 counties of this district. By cooperating, they could pool their resources for the '64 elections.

TC YR's will concentrate on Precinct 5A, the second largest precinct in Texarkana, which went Democratic in '62. YR Jerry Cunningham is the precinct chairman.

YR's feted Covington with a surprise birthday party, a wiener roast at Lake Texarkana November 2.

YR officers met with Joe Kinbred, Republican Field

Worker, November 12, to discuss co-ordinating the YR's with the senior party in the '64 elections. After resigning as Secretary of the Texas Federation of Young Republicans, Kindred became a Republican Field Worker.

Future plans of this political organization include a Thanksgiving party for YR's of the Four States Area.
